Global Commons to Open in Memorial Union

Beginning in winter 2015, OSU Office of Global Opportunities will provide programming and staff at Global Commons, centrally located on campus on the Memorial Union's Mezzanine level.

The Global Commons space will allow for a full, varied, and engaging portfolio of activities, including presentations, thematic and country-specific sessions, and interactions with OSU student ambassadors, OSU GO staff, and faculty.

IDEA Transitions to the Office of Global Opportunities (OSU GO)

Formerly known as the Office of International Degree and Education Abroad (IDEA), a unit within the International Programs Division, OSU GO is the centralized hub for supporting students and faculty who wish to explore, travel, study, and go global.

"It is encouraging to see positive momentum building as the University ramps up to triple the number of students who study abroad over the next 3-5 years," said Provost and Executive Vice President Sabah Randhawa. "OSU GO definitely represents the sense of excitement and forward movement that we are seeking."

International Degree Activity in 2013-14

Earning an International Degree involves: obtaining second language proficiency; diversifying one's international/intercultural understanding; experiencing another culture first-hand through study; participating in research or an internship; and developing critical analysis skills in major field of study by writing a comprehensive thesis.

As part of the J-1 Student Intern program, 109 international students engaged in short-term research and training at OSU, and subsequently returned to their home institutions to complete their degrees.

By College Total= 512

Nearly three-quarters (71%) of all international scholars and faculty come to OSU as researchers or trainees on J-1 Exchange visitor visas.

Division of International Programs

International Programs (IP) works in collaboration with INTO OSU, colleges, and departments to advance the internationalization of the campus. Comprised of the four units below, IP manages international agreements between international institutions, coordinates visits for in-bound and out-bound delegations, and coordinates International Education Week, in collaboration with Colleges and other units on campus; Promotes Fulbright Scholar Program; Leads communication and reporting to campus of internationalization activities.

OFFICE OF GLOBAL OPPORTUNITIES (OSU GO):

Promotes participation in education abroad opportunities through campus outreach, student advising, and logistical support; Supports and encourages departmental study abroad/exchange programs; Supports faculty interested in developing and leading short-term programs; Collaborates with IE3 Global; Promotes and administers OSU GO-based and prestigious national education abroad scholarships such as Gilman and U.S. Student Fulbright.

INTERNATIONAL DEGREE (ID):

The International Degree (ID) is OSU's unique double-degree undergraduate option for all students. The International Degree, started in 1992, takes the education abroad experience further, through advanced language proficiency, increased cultural awareness and detailed analysis of an international aspect of a student's major field of study. Over 170 students in 50+ majors across campus receive individualized program advising, one-on-one thesis mentoring with OSU faculty and unique supporting courses to aid in degree completion.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT ADVISING & SERVICES (ISAS):

Provides on-going advising regarding visa and immigration status, employment, travel, cultural adjustment, enrollment issues, dependents, and more to all OSU international students (degree-seeking, exchange and INTO OSU); Primary contact for sponsored students and sponsoring agencies; Manages select merit and financial need-based scholarships for international students including the International Cultural Service Program (ICSP), Oversees Student Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS) reporting and compliance for all of OSU's campuses.

INTERNATIONAL SCHOLAR & FACULTY SERVICES (ISFS):

Assists Colleges in recruiting and retaining global talent to academic teaching and research positions by acquiring U.S. work authorization and permanent residence and facilitates hosting of international visiting scholars and student interns; Maintains a website resource for OSU faculty conducting research abroad; Serves as a central resource for international employees and hosting Colleges; Collaborates with OSU and community partners to enrich experiences of international visiting scholars and their families.

International Resource Center (IRC) to Open February 2015

Oregon State University will unveil the new International Resource Center (IRC) in the new Student Experience Center (SEC) in Winter 2015. The IRC which opened in a temporary location in the Memorial Union in 2009, will contribute to the globalization of Beaver Nation through engagement with the contemporary issues facing our world and the sharing of culture, people, places, food, arts and traditions of the world.

INTO Oregon State University

Established in 2008, INTO University Partnerships and Oregon State University began a long-term partnership designed to increase international student enrollment and further OSU's internationalization efforts. The INTO OSU Center is comprised of:

INTERNATIONAL ADMISSIONS:

Responsible for all OSU international admissions at the undergraduate degree-seeking level. In addition, this unit is responsible for admission to English language and Pathway programs, professional programs and the MBA; Administers the OSU International Provost's Scholarship and INTO OSU scholarship programs.

STUDENT EXPERIENCE:

Student Services provides a range of co-curricular programs and services promoting social, personal, and academic well-being for students studying at INTO OSU. They partner closely with OSU Student Affairs on student care, well-being, conduct, and housing; provide and promote student engagement opportunities; manage the Cultural Ambassador Conversant Program and the Global Village Living-Learning Community; delivers wide-ranging cultural adjustment information and support.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS:

The INTO OSU Academic team delivers intensive English programs, significant academic support and advising services. Undergraduate and Graduate Pathways programs prepare students to be successful in OSU degree programs through a structured program of English, study skills, and academic classes. Academic English prepares students for entry to OSU degree programs. General English/ Study Abroad with English allow students to study language, academics and campus life. The Learning Center in the ILLC provides a self-study setting, tutors, a computer lab and a library.
